PARTY LEADERS ARE DISTURBED

Republicans in Washington Fear Loss of Congress.

WILL HOLD A CONFERENCE

Believe That Unless There Is a Change in the Situation the Republican Party Will Go Down to Defeat in the November Elections—Pinchot's Trip to Europe to Meet Roosevelt Worries the Leaders.

Washington, March 23.—The portentous political developments of the past few weeks and the general discontent with the federal administration that appears to exist in many states will form the subject of a party conference soon to be held by the Republican leaders in Washington. The leaders generally are disturbed over the present chaotic condition of affairs, and they make no concealment of their belief that unless there is a change in the situation the G. O. P. will go down to defeat in the November elections.

Disquieting advices were received from three different sources. First—It became known that Gifford Pinchot, the deposed forester, had sailed for Europe Saturday to confer with Theodore Roosevelt. The appointment was made as a result of a cablegram received by Mr. Pinchot immediately upon the arrival of Colonel Roosevelt in Khartoum.

Second—Announcement was made that James R. Garfield, who has been mentioned as a Republican candidate for governor of Ohio, will not seek the honor, but will come out in a speech within the next few days attacking the Taft administration, and declaring that he will not run on a platform which "will embody the Taft principles instead of the Roosevelt policies."

Third—Eugene N. Foss, a Democrat, running for congress in the Fourteenth Massachusetts district on a platform that denounced the Aldrich-Payne tariff law and Cannonism, defeated W. R. Buchanan, his Republican opponent, by a substantial majority.

Pinchot Trip Significant.

A good deal of significance is attached to Mr. Pinchot's trip to Europe. It is recalled that some months ago, when the "back from Elba" movement was suggested in the Middle West, a proposal was made that Mr. Pinchot should be selected as the emissary of those who desired that Colonel Roosevelt should be informed immediately upon his return to civilization that his successor had not attempted to "clinch" the policies inaugurated by the previous administration.

Just what developments, if any, will follow the conference of Colonel Roosevelt and Mr. Pinchot at Naples is a matter of conjecture. From a Republican standpoint things have been going from bad to worse of late in Ohio, the president's home state. The announcement, therefore, that Mr. Garfield, secretary of the interior in the Roosevelt administration, purposes denouncing President Taft in a public speech excited a good deal of interest.

The result in the Fourteenth Massachusetts district came as a shock to the Republican leaders. Massachusetts Republicans explained that Buchanan was defeated because he was unpopular in the district and that Foss' triumph should not be accepted as symptomatic of public sentiment in the state on the question of Cannonism.

It is generally recognized, even by friends of the speaker, that Cannonism, so called, is still an issue, pregnant with danger, despite the fact that the Cannon organization was humbled in the house last week.

GIVEN TO THE UNIVERSITY

Memorial Fund Raised by Friends of Late Governor Johnson.

St. Paul, March 23.—The committee formed last October for the purpose of raising a Johnson memorial fund, which should be placed at the disposal of the widow of Governor John A. Johnson during her life and at her death to be turned over to the board of regents of the state university for the purpose of founding a John A. Johnson scholarship, met with the board of regents at the university and reported that their work had been practically completed and that they had on hand a sum of $22,000 which would be available immediately for the above mentioned purpose.

Young Farmer Killed.

Underwood, N. D., March 23.—John Gustavson, a farmer, was apparently instantly killed while on his way to attend the townsite election. Just how he met death will probably never be known. He took with him a double-barreled shotgun, one barrel of which had been discharged, the load taking effect in his head. Young Gustavson was the mainstay of the family, the husband and father having been killed less than a year ago.

DANIEL'S DEBT TO GRANT.

How the Virginia Senator's Life Was Saved by the Famous General.

Senator John Warlick Daniel of Virginia, who was born in Lynchburg, Va., on Sept. 5, 1842, while a guest of the Hamilton club at Chicago some years ago told the following story of an event in his life:

"I am going to tell you an incident in the life of General Ulysses S. Grant which has never appeared in print that I know of, but which happened to come within my cognizance," said Senator Daniel.

"Along in January or February, 1865, a young Virginia soldier, about seventeen or eighteen years of age (and I want you to understand that every boy in Virginia from thirteen to fourteen years of age upward was carrying arms at the time), was instructed by his commander, who was Colonel John S. Mosby, to cross the Potomac to a certain postoffice in Maryland and bring to him the mail. He wanted it for the military information he could get out of it.

"This young man was in his full Confederate uniform and, with a comrade or two, proceeded to execute the order. He arrived at the postoffice, and the inconspicuous postmaster showed fight. He killed him. He got the mail and brought it and delivered it to his commander. A short time afterward he was captured. He was taken to the city of Washington. He was court martialed and condemned to be shot for murder.

"At that stage of the proceedings his father and mother, whom I knew well—and there were no more respectable and reputable people in Virginia—went to the city of Washington and laid the case before the president of the United States, Andrew Johnson. He referred them to General Grant.

"General Grant sent for the papers and read them over and wrote upon the back of them words to this effect: 'This young soldier, in full uniform, obeyed the orders of his commander. If he had not done so he ought to have been shot. As he did so it would be murder to shoot him. He should be instantly discharged.'

"And that is one reason why I am here and why I am glad to pay the respect of a soldier to the brave, true and honorable American soldier, Ulysses S. Grant."

"And that is one reason why I am here and why I am glad to pay the respect of a soldier to the brave, true and honorable American soldier, Ulysses S. Grant."

New Breath Holding Record.

After seven attempts Bert Swan of St. Joseph, Mo., broke the world's record for remaining under water the other night by lying at the bottom of a large tank of water for three minutes and six seconds. The previous record was two minutes and thirty-eight seconds, held by A. Enid, made in a Philadelphia swimming pool.

Caruso's Beautiful Birthday Gift.

On Enrico Caruso's thirty-fifth birthday his compatriots sent many gifts to the singer at his hotel in New York. One of the gifts most highly prized by the tenor was his own portrait done in natural flowers by Salvatore di Cristo of Brooklyn. The tenor said he had never received such a beautiful gift in his life.

Kicked to Death by Colt.

Aberdeen, S. D., March 23.—Martin McNery, a farmer, aged forty-five years, employed twelve miles east of Aberdeen, while attempting to break a colt to ride, was thrown and kicked to death by the animal.

Peculiarities of Russian Winters.

There is one curious thing about a Russian winter—in the latter part of October or the beginning of November the weather will be quite mild. Not a sign can be seen of an approaching change, when suddenly, without any apparent warning, a light haze will be seen in the northern sky, and in twenty-four hours the thermometer may fall 50 degrees. The change is so sudden and violent that travelers are frequently frozen to death before they can gain shelter. It has occurred that farmers out looking after their flocks have been caught in one of these blizzards and, missing their way home, have lost their lives, their bodies remaining under the snow until the following spring.

"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN.

Said to Have Offered to Kill a Bill for $10,000.

FOR TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

"Big Tim" Sullivan Said to Have Offered to Kill a Bill.

New York, March 23.—The name of State Senator Timothy D. Sullivan, familiarly known as "Big Tim," figured briefly in the first insurance inquiry, but for the most part William Hotchkiss, the state superintendent of insurance, kept on sweeping the cobwebs off alleged shady transactions at Albany in years gone by.

Sullivan's name was brought in when George F. Seward, president of the Fidelity and Casualty company, testified that a representative of "Big Tim" offered, in 1891 or 1892, to "put off" a bill objectionable to the company for a consideration of $10,000.

Sullivan, who came to New York from Albany, apparently does not take the charge seriously. Seward's testimony, he said, was mere hearsay and does not concern him. The bill became a law in 1892.

NOT AN INSURGENT ON THE COMMITTEE

Only Regulars Will Be on Enlarged House Body.

Washington, March 23.—Through the maze of speculation regarding the probable personnel of the enlarged rules committee of the house was developed a slate for Republican membership in that body. Several conferences were held, and as a result it is understood the members of the committee may be selected on a geographical basis. The tentative slate is divided into groups out of which the leaders expect one each to be chosen. The group follows:

Dalzell of Pennsylvania.

Smith of Iowa.

McCall or Lawrence of Massachusetts or J. Sloat Fassett of New York.

Boutell of Illinois or Longworth of Ohio.

Young of Michigan or Stevens of Minnesota.

Smith of California or Hawley of Oregon or Howell of Utah.

From this slate the six Republican members of the committee of ten may be selected at the Republican caucus. This list of probable selections does not include a single insurgent Republican.

Republican leaders take the position that only by a rockribbed unflinchingly stalwart regular Republican membership can the rules committee transact any really effective business.

OPPOSES RAILROAD BILL

Senator Clapp Holds It Would Legalize Mergers.

Washington, March 23.—In a two hours' speech delivered in the senate Senator Clapp of Minnesota attacked the administration railroad bill, declaring that while the measure contained some good features it really proposed to enslave the power of the interstate commerce commission. Mr. Clapp addressed himself particularly to that section creating an interstate commerce court, but he pointed out that the measure was full of inconsistency.

The tenor of Mr. Clapp's argument was that the bill would in effect legalize railroad mergers and instead of being an advance step in the direction of effective railroad legislation, render nugatory laws heretofore passed to ward the attainment of that end.

Three Workmen Are Killed.

Winnipeg, March 23.—While blasting rock for a new power dam at Revelstoke three workmen were killed, a big slab of overhanging rock falling on them.

Injuries May Prove Fatal.

Sisseton, S. D., March 23.—Joseph Hannasch, a farmer, attempted to stop a runaway team and sustained a fracture of the skull. He may die.

NINE MORE MEN PLEAD GUILTY

Former Pittsburg Councilmen Admit Accepting Bribes.

RECEIVE THE IMMUNITY BATH

All of Them Taken Before Judge Fraser and Given Suspended Sentences. Bank Officials Alleged to Be Among Those Who Bribed the Men Who Have Confessed—Sensational Developments Expected to Occur.

Pittsburg, March 23.—Nine more former members of the councils appeared before the district attorney and confessed to their guilt of accepting money for their votes while members of the municipal bodies, and were then rushed before Judge R. S. Fraser, where they received their immunity bath in the way of a suspended sentence.

When the grand jury adjourned for the day they had returned no indictments, although they had listened for hours to developments in the bribery scandal even more sensational than developed Monday. Men admitted selling their honor for from $75 upwards. John F. Klein was before the grand jury the greater part of the day and continued his narrative of council graft.

All of the nine men who confessed to the district attorney will appear before the grand jury to tell their stories. District Attorney Blakeley will, as soon as the council bribetakers have been rounded up, go after the bribe-givers. These are said to be bank officials, of institutions whose names have never heretofore been breathed in connection with the graft probe of the past two years. The "tip" has been passed to these bank men that they may come in under the "immunity" extended by the district attorney, but as they have thus far failed to avail themselves of the opportunity it is reported that some bombshells will be dropped into the social structure of Pittsburg when county detectives "turn the money changers out of their own temples" and bring them before the bar of justice. With all that has thus far been disclosed in this gigantic municipal graft conspiracy there is a feeling that what has been thus far accomplished is but a scratching of the surface.

Many Will Be Implicated.

Twenty have thus far confessed, thirty-seven have been indicted but have not confessed and sixteen have been implicated but have not been indicted. It is said at the district attorney's office that before the grand jury is dismissed fully 100 persons will be implicated. These will include not only the present and former members of the council body, but the men who supplied the money to do the bribing.

Some of the stories told by the confessing councilmen were interesting. The crowd could not suppress a laugh when William Frederick of the North Side testified that he had carried $100 around in his hip pocket a week before he knew it was there. He said it had been placed in his pocket during the councilmanic ball game at Neville Island in July, 1908.

Another unique feature occurred in the testimony of former Common Councilman Fred Hering of the old Twelfth ward, North Side. He told how Klein met him with a former councilman named Morrison coming out of the Duquesne hotel after a council meeting in July, 1908. He said that Klein handed Mr. Morrison an envelope containing a slip of names and $500.

"This is something for the boys; you give it out, Morrison," Klein is alleged to have said.

Morrison, according to Hering, pleaded that he was too lame and was consequently unable to deliver the goods. Hering then admitted that he engineered the distribution. Each man got $100.

AGED MAN IS MURDERED

Shack Looted and Then Fired by the Criminals.

Milbank, S. D., March 23.—The shack in which David Stroff lived near Labolt, fifteen miles south of Milbank, was found burned down. Stroff's body was in the ruins. The condition of the body indicates murder.

He was a bachelor, sixty years old, and had lived at the shack, the remnant of an old silver mine, for a number of years. He had sold off his property, and had about $500 about the place. The pocketbook, but no money, was found.

When the building was burned it was not known, as the place is in the valley of Contau hills, where it is not thickly settled.

Two Victims of Accidents.

Marquette, Mich., March 23.—While making maple sugar Mrs. Mary Madosh, an Indian woman of this city, was killed by a falling tree. Either falling or being thrown into a mining shaft at the Swanzy, Antoine Senardi plunged 300 feet to death.

MAYOR BUSSE.

Signed the "Anti-Hatpin Ordinance" in Chicago.

BUSSE SIGNS ORDINANCE

Chicago Women Must Not Wear Long Hatpins.

Chicago, March 23.—The "anti-hatpin" ordinance passed by the city council to prohibit the wearing of long hatpins by women in public places has been signed by Mayor Busse. It will go into effect on April 1.

Many women visited the corporation counsel's office to learn whether, under the ordinance, they might not wear "protectors" over the points of their hatpins. They were told that the new law made no exceptions for this, but that any woman wearing a "snickersnee" the point of which extended more than half an inch beyond the crown of the hat, was liable to arrest and a fine of $50.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS AT PEACE BANQUET

Delivers an Address Before a Brilliant Assemblage.

New York, March 23.—The president of the United States spoke in the cause of world peace before such a brilliant assemblage at the Hotel Astor that he described it as "superlative." He was the honor guest at a banquet of the Peace and Arbitration league and the principal speaker. International peace was the keynote of every address, but no speaker advocated the immediate disarmament of nations. On the other hand, all agreed that armies and navies were necessary until a more utopian universe shall have come about. On this point President Taft said:

"Because we are in favor of universal peace and in favor of arbitration in order to secure it we stand together that we are not in favor of one country giving up that which we now use for the purpose of securing peace, to wit, our armament, our army and our navy."

"I do not want to seem inconsistent in speaking so emphatically here in favor of peace by arbitration and in using every effort that I can bring to bear on congress to have two more battleships this year. I am hopeful that we may continue with that policy until the Panama canal is constructed, so that then our naval force shall be doubled by reason of the connection between the two coasts, and then we can stop and think whether we wish to go further. Perhaps by that time there shall be adopted a means of reducing armament. And when it comes I am sure we will not be the power to interfere with that general movement."

Facing a crowd of 500 newspaper men and editors at the New York Press club the president indirectly apologized for his remarks concerning the press made in a recent speech in Chicago.

It was certainly a strenuous day that the president spent in New York. He was pursued for a mile through Central park by a bicycle policeman in seeking speed limit violators; his automobile led the fastest race thorough Fifth avenue and congested Broadway that the natives have witnessed in many a day; he lectured an assemblage of editors at luncheon at the residence of Henry Clews, the New York banker; he discussed the Far Eastern situation with former Vice President Fairbanks and conferred with county political leaders briefly.

JONES GETS THIRTY YEARS

Murderer of Pugilist Whitehead Pleads Guilty to Crime.

Duluth, March 23.—For the murder of Walter Whitehead, the negro pugilist, Ralph Jones will spend the next thirty years of his life in the Minnesota state prison at Stillwater.

Jones was allowed to plead guilty to the charge of murder in the third degree and he was at once sentenced to thirty years by Judge William A. Cent of the district court.

FOR THE FIRST TIME ON RECORD

AGAINST THE STEEL TRUST

American Federation of Labor Files Charges.

Washington, March 23.—Sworn statements and other documentary evidence intended to support the charges made against the United States Steel corporation by the American Federation of Labor were presented to Attorney General Wickersham. The evidence follows the petition of the organization to President Taft, who referred the whole matter to the attorney general.

Aside from alleging that the steel corporation exists in restraint of commerce and trade the federation's chief complaint is that it employs conditions unsatisfactory to organized labor and has used various means to prevent labor organizers from working among its employees.

Affidavits of organizers deposing that they have been beaten and ordered out of places where the corporation has mills are attached to the statement as exhibits. Others declare that labor officials have been unable to hire halls in which to hold meetings, that they have been intimidated by local police in steel districts, all of which is charged to officers of the steel mills by the series of sworn statements.

Part of the argument is an effort to show that the steel corporation exists in violation of the Sherman law and certain provisions of the Wilson tariff act.

Many charges are brought against the corporation's town of Gary, where a monopoly of all necessities of life is said to be complete and arbitrary prices are charged for everything.

FORTY-SEVEN WERE KILLED

And One More Wreck Victim Will Die.

Marshalltown, Ia., March 23.—With three dead bodies of victims of the Rock Island wreck yet to be identified the task of identification is practically at a standstill. All three bodies are of women, some so mutilated that positive identification will be very difficult. Two other bodies are partly identified.

It is known one of the five, not positively identified, is Mrs. Mary E. Parrish, Cedarville, Mo., wife of Milton Parrish, who was killed. It is known another is Mrs. May Lewis, Valley Junction, Ia.

At St. Thomas hospital it was said A. H. Nagel, wire chief of the Iowa Telephone exchange, Waterloo, could not positively live. Death is expected at any time. He is the only one of the badly injured who is still alive. The correct total of dead is forty-seven, instead of forty-six.

No Settlement in Sight.

Philadelphia, March 23.—The conference of the rapid transit officials, committee of ten, George H. Earle, Jr., and others broke up without reaching an agreement. No settlement of the street car strike is in sight.

Duluth Man Killed.

Fourteenth Massachusetts District Elects a Democrat.

SENDS FOSS TO CONGRESS

Noted Advocate of Reciprocity With Canada Given Five Thousand More Votes Than His Republican Opponent in a Former Republican Stronghold—Result Considered of More Than Statewide Importance.

Brockton, Mass., March 23.—The national political weathercock turned Democratward in Massachusetts when the Old Colony section, one of the Republican strongholds of the state, placed Eugene N. Foss of Boston, one of the country's leading exponents of reciprocity with Canada, in the congressional seat of the late William C. Lovering. Mr. Foss accomplished what was regarded as almost a political miracle, turning a Republican plurality of 14,250 into a Democratic victory of 5,840. The vote was:

Eugene N. Foss, Boston, Dem., 14,980; William R. Buchanan, Brockton, Rep., 9,340.

It was the most overwhelming defeat that the Republicans have met in Massachusetts since Governor Bates was overthrown by William L. Douglas six years ago.

The result is considered of more than statewide importance, for Mr. Foss stamped the Fourteenth district on national questions and the people backed him up with a whoop.

It was the first contest to be decided by the voters since the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill became operative, and had a peculiar interest on that account. Mr. Foss, who has figured in several campaigns, first as a Republican and latterly as a Democrat, with moderate protectionist leanings, is well known in the Northern states and in Canada as a champion of Canadian reciprocity, an issue which led him to leave the Republican party last year and become the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor. He failed by only 8,000 votes to carry the state at that time.

Blamed Tariff Bill.

Another subject which was discussed in the campaign was the high cost of living. The Democratic campaigners charged the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill and the failure of the Republican party to properly supervise the trusts with being mainly responsible for the high cost of living. This attack was met by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge.

Mr. Foss, in replying, argued against Mr. Lodge's allegation that the cost of provisions is due to a worldwide upward price movement.

The Fourteenth district has been the most consistently Republican district in Massachusetts, having never before elected a Democrat to congress. Congressman Lovering carried the district in 1908 by the enormous plurality of 14,250 and it appeared at the time of Congressman Lovering's death last winter that a man canvassing under Democratic colors would have no hope whatever.

The remarkable shift of votes is difficult to analyze. The Republican leaders admit that their party in the district was divided, partly due to the failure of Judge Robert O. Harris to win the nomination in the primaries. Judge Harris took no part in the campaign, but many of his friends, together with other dissatisfied Republicans, worked to defeat Mr. Buchanan.

The Brockton man was further handicapped by a theory that Mr. Foss was as good a Republican as himself and it is true that Mr. Foss' prominence in the Republican party previous to last year brought many supporters to his standard.

Congressman-elect Foss is a prominent manufacturer, banker and capitalist of Boston. He is a brother of Congressman Foss of Illinois.

Result Surprises Taft.

New York, March 23.—The result of the election in the Fourteenth congressional district in Massachusetts, in which the Republican majority of 14,000 a year and a half ago was turned into a Democratic victory of something like 6,000, seemed to surprise President Taft.

Aroused Great Interest.

Washington, March 23.—The election of Foss in the district of the late Representative Lovering, Rep., aroused great interest in the house and an announcement of the Democratic victory made on the floor caused loud applause from that side of the chamber.

Strange Love For Pet Dog.

Wing, a Yorkshire terrier, which was the pet of Mrs. Mary Semple of St. Louis, was chloroformed the other day at a dog hospital in accordance with a provision in her will that the dog be killed, so he might meet her in the spirit world.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Are Enthusiastically Received

Under the excellent direction of Prof. W. L. Gray, the club has in the past five years gained much popularity throughout the entire state. Wherever the boys have sung they have been most enthusiastically received and now have the reputation of giving the best entertainment of the kind of any like organization in the northwest. The numbers given, while for the most part of a light and humorous nature, offer enough vibrations by means of more classical selections and college songs to please every lover of music, no matter what his taste may be—Mankato Free Press.

At the Brainerd opera house tonight.

Wildfire

That great comedy of society and the race track, "Wildfire," which comes to the opera house for an engagement of one night only, Friday, April 1st, will be presented with an exceptionally strong company and the original scenic production. Miss Luella Morey, an actress undoubtedly equipped with the qualities essential for a proper portrayal of the role of Mrs. Barrington, invests the part with a dash that makes the widow a strikingly effective character. Diminutive Gus Alexander, who appears in the role of Bud, the slangy stable boy, scales somewhere in the feather-weight class, but his acting is up with the heavyweights.

David Belasco's "The Girl of the Golden West"

An announcement that will be looked forward to with the interest by play-goers in the forthcoming presentation here soon of David Belasco's own company in his great play, "The Girl of the Golden West." This beautiful Belasco story of the early days of California which had a remarkable run of two years at the Belasco theatre, New York, will be given here with the same attention to detail that characterized its performances in the metropolises.

STOMACH DISTRESS SIMPLY VANISHES

A Little Diapiesin Will Certainly Make any Sufferer Here Feel Fine

RELIEVES IN FIVE MINUTES

Indigestion, Gas Heartburn and Other Misery is Relieved Before You Realize it

If you had some Diapiesin handy and would take a little now your stomach distress or indigestion would vanish in five minutes and you would feel fine.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, out-of-order stomach before you realize it.

If your meals don't tempt you, or what little you do eat seems to fill you, or lays like a lump at lead on your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist for a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a little just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no undigested food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a sure cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it prevents fermentation and takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is at any drug store waiting for you.

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disturbance.

White Animals Among the Japanese.
A white fox is often mentioned in the Japanese fables, and a white serpent appears in their pictures of Ben-ten, the goddess of fortune. Among the Japanese, as among the ancient Greeks and Scythians, white horses were dedicated to the gods and are still attached to the larger temples of the country. The milk and butter of white cows were formerly prized as a medicine.

COL. A. J. HALSTED ELECTED PRESIDENT

Board of Directors Elected Him President of the Commercial Club Last Night

AGGRESSIVE WORK IS PLANNED

Banquet Will be Held April 13 at Which Work of Club Will be Outlined

If there are any who doubted that the Commercial club is organizing this year for a very effective year's work, their doubts would have been dispelled had they attended the meeting of the board of directors last night.

Fourteen of the sixteen directors were present, and the enthusiasm was unbounded. The election of officers resulted as follows: Pres., A. J. Halsted; vice president, Carl Zappfe; secretary, Ezra R. Smith; treasurer, F. A. Farrar. The applications for six members were received.

The board decided to give a banquet for all members of the club on April 13th, at which time the officers are supposed to outline the work for the new year, and a number of speakers will present the lines of activity they believe the club should follow out.

It is expected that this will be the most enthusiastic meeting ever held by the club, and the results are expected to be for the benefit of our city.

Mr. C. A. Albright and Mr. W. H. Gemmell presented the necessity of this county being organized to assist in carrying out the conservation program which is now being pushed in most of the counties in Northern Minnesota. This matter was placed in the hands of the committee, who will shortly plan for a meeting to accomplish this end.

The board adjourned to meet on Tuesday, March 29th, when the president will appoint the committees for the year.

THEATRE IS PROGRESSING

Work on Grand, Brainerd's New Play House is Advancing With Rapidity

The work of remodeling the room in the Sleeper block for the Grand theatre is progressing as rapidly as could be expected. The 16-foot ventilating dome is in place. This will have a 4-foot ventilator in the top and will not only make the house much more comfortable in summer but will render the air pure at all times and will greatly improve the acoustic properties of the room. The floor of the auditorium has been lowered three and one half feet at the front and an orchestra pit put in which will permit of placing the piano in front of the stage and yet having its top come below the stage level. The partitions for the box office and the foyer are in place and the building really begins to look like a theatre.

The management hope to have it ready for opening by April 15th.

MAY PROVE FATAL

When Will Brainerd People Learn the Importance of it

Backache is only a simple thing at first; But when you know 'tis from the kidneys; That serious kidney troubles follow; That diabetes, Bright's disease may be the fatal end. You will gladly profit by the following experience.

'Tis the honest statement of a sufferer who was cured: Mrs. George H. Davis, of Wadena, Minn., says: "When I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, I know whereof I speak. Three or four years ago I was attacked by sharp pains in the small of my back, sometimes extending into my head. The kidney secretions became unnatural and showed that my kidneys were disordered. Doan's Kidney Pills soon disposed of the pain and kidney weakness and I have had little or no trouble of the kind since."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

BEWARE OF FIRES

Everything is Getting Pretty Dry and There Will be Danger Unless Care is Taken

Unless special care is taken there will be danger of serious fires this spring in burning rubbish. There has as yet been no rain. This in one way is fortunate as a warm rain would bring fruit, etc., out too fast. On the other hand the lack of rain has made everything pretty dry and increases the danger from fires set to burn rubbish. Especial care should be exercised by parents to see that children do not set bonfires in dangerous places. It is dangerous to let them do so at best, as there is always grave danger of their clothes catching fire, but in a dry time there is also danger of their setting fire to valuable property. It will pay to look after the burning of your rubbish and grass yourself rather than to leave it to the children.

FOR CLEANING UP WEEK

Mayors of Other Cities are Proclaiming Time for Cleaning up of Cities

"Wouldn't it be a good plan to request Mayor Ousdahl to name a week for cleaning up the city," said a citizen to the reporter a day or so ago. "The mayors of other cities are doing so with good results and it has been done in the past in Brainerd with beneficent effects. Brainerd is confronting the most active season in her history, without a doubt and the one in which she will be visited by more strangers than in any year in her history. She should put her best foot forward and should present an appearance of neatness that will charm all beholders, rather than a condition of negligence and air of neglect which will mark her as a dead one."

Pony's Shoes in the Baby Class.

What is believed to be the smallest horse in the United States was shot the other day by W. C. Hedrick of Prospect Park, near Chester, Pa. The Siberian animal, known as Adonis, stands thirty inches high and weighs 100 pounds. It is owned by E. Bosch, who has been visiting Charles E. Harrell at Norwood. Special shoes, each about the size of a silver dollar, had to be made for the horse.

Cowboys to Use Automobiles.

Cowboys mounted on ponies will soon be supplanted by automobiles on the larger cattle ranches in Texas, according to an announcement made the other day at Chicago by the representative of a Texas ranch owners' organization. He said that automobiles were so constructed now that their use over the ranges was practical. Already 200 machines have been ordered shipped from Chicago and New York to various Texas points.

How to Lose Coughs and Colds

When you feel "plain bum" with a cold there's just one best thing to do about it and that's to get a bottle of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and follow directions.

Your cough will stop almost instantly and every trace of the cold—the full aching head, the sore nose and throat, the stinging eyes, etc., will cease to annoy you very soon.

Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey is successful because it seeks out and destroys the cause of the cold—the germs.

It heals, cools, soothes and strengthens the irritated parts.

Yet it contains no habit forming drugs whatsoever—mostly real old fashioned pine-tar, honey and other beneficial ingredients that our grandmothers used to fix up for the family cures.

Made by a known scientific process with contents plainly stated on the bottle. The standard for 20 years. The largest selling cough and cold medicine in the world.

You ought to take some of it now and see how it gets to work on your cold.

END OF POVERTY OIL KING'S AIM

Chief Purpose of Rockefeller Foundation, Says S. J. Murphy.

NOT TO BE LIMITED IN ITS WORK

Multimillionaire Has in Mind Practical Realization of Dream of Ages—Wants to Fit Men to Succeed in Life's Battle—Desires More Equal Distribution of Wealth.

What John D. Rockefeller, the oil magnate, really has in mind as the purpose of the Rockefeller foundation is nothing less than a practical realization of the dream of the ages—the abolition of poverty.

Starr J. Murphy, one of Mr. Rockefeller's chief advisers in methods of benevolence, recently said to a reporter:

"Mr. Rockefeller in his charities goes to rock bottom. In the general education board he has provided aid to established institutions for making men fit to succeed, education, development and training of a man's power being the surest way toward making one able to do something with oneself. In the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research his purpose is to get down not merely to remedies for diseases, but to eliminate diseases.

Wants an End of Poverty.

"His chief desire now is for the more equal distribution of wealth and the removal of poverty—not, mind you, the alleviation of poverty alone, but the removal of poverty."

Mr. Murphy's declaration came toward the end of a long chat on the scope of the proposed foundation to "prevent and relieve suffering" and the "promotion of any and all elements of human progress."

"May I, Mr. Murphy," asked the reporter, "write that as authoritative?"

"You may," he answered. "But be sure to say that what he wants is more equal distribution of wealth, not redistribution. Redistribution he does not believe effective, nor do we who compose his committee on benevolence—J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., Fred T. Gates, Charles O. Heydt and myself. It is no new thing to us, the purpose of this foundation. We have been studying charities for Mr. Rockefeller for years, and he has been interested in getting down to fundamentals.

"If a man has $100,000 a year to spend in philanthropy he might, under a plan of redistribution, give $100 a year to 1,000 families. That might serve to keep 1,000 families just this side of the border line of starvation. Yet that $100,000 annually spent in support of, say, such a benevolence as the Medical Research Institute, those same 1,000 families would benefit quite as much, and then, beyond them, there would be the benefit bestowed on multitudes of others. No one, for instance, can compute the value accomplished by Mr. Rockefeller's medical institute in discovering how to prevent and cure cerebral spinal meningitis.

A Bar on Limitations.

"You say the bill to incorporate the foundation is indefinite, not specific. One of the most detrimental things in charities is the control exercised by the dead hand. The bill was drawn so that the foundation should not be limited or prescribed in its endeavors to promote well being. Emergencies, occasions of sudden distress, new discoveries of the causes of suffering, might require funds immediately. We have to provide for the unforeseen, the unknown, in creating this corporation for the application of money toward good causes. Socialists and philosophers have long written on the causes of poverty. What we need is actual constructive work and be done with theories.

"While nothing has been determined regarding the organization of the staff of the foundation and will not be till the bill of incorporation is passed, I suppose it will operate somewhat on the lines of the Sage foundation. That, you know, financed the survey of labor and sociological conditions in Pittsburgh. It finances separate societies and institutions for special investigations and researches. We wish to be enabled to do that and anything else that may come within our purpose.

"It is fifteen years now since Mr. Rockefeller retired from business. His abilities in business surely are beyond discussion. Well, now, give a man of such high competence in organization and administration, who has given fifteen years to studying how to devote his riches to permanent beneficial uses, and what may not be expected?"

Rockefeller's Personal Work.

Mr. Murphy was asked what personal part Mr. Rockefeller takes in administering his different charities. His answer was:

"Out of the $53,000,000 he has given to the general education board he retains the absolute direction of only $25,000,000 or so. The administration develops upon the officers of the general board. The board, by the way, has about fifteen employees and is an example of economic administration. In the new foundation Mr. Rockefeller will be one of the body corporate and will select other associates besides his son, Mr. Gates, Mr. Heydt and myself when the incorporation bill is enacted."

How Tommy Escaped.

At breakfast restless little Tommy began to play with the crust stand. His father told him not to do so. He persisted and at last upset it and spilled the pepper on the tablecloth. His father said:

"Now, Tommy, you were disobedient and upset the pepper castor, and I really ought to make the punishment fit the crime by putting some of the pepper on your tongue."

Tommy looked up like a flash and asked:

"Would I be punished the same, dad, if I upset the sugar bowl?"

ROOSEVELT ON HOME STRETCH

Resume of the Former President's Outing in the African Jungles—What His Hunting and Exploring Expedition Has Done

By JAMES A. EDGERTON.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, former president, faunal naturalist, rough rider and private citizen, is on his way back to publicity and home. After a year as a mighty hunter he now changes his role on the world stage and becomes a college lecturer. When through playing that part he will take up—who knows what? It is safe to say that, whatever the next stunt he tackles, it will be interesting. One of the refreshing things about Roosevelt is that, let the game be what it will, he plays it for all that is in him. Whether it be ranching, hunting, soldiering, writing or lecturing; whether it be as member of assembly, candidate for mayor, police commissioner, assistant secretary of the navy, colonel, governor, vice president or president; whether it be in the character of speaker, editor, author or moral evangelist, he puts all of himself into whatever he does. He talked of hitting the line hard before he went into Africa; he talked of hitting the line hard when he emerged.

From the few scraps of his conversation that have floated down the Nile and zipped their way around the world he is the same old Roosevelt. They take one back to the days of Loeb, the nature fakers, the strenuous life and the tennis cabinet.

It seems good, doesn't it? Just like the old days! After a dreary year of propriet is not without honor save in his own country" was not spoken of the Wall street brand of soothsayer. He is without honor anywhere under the sun.

The Great Hunter Soon to Assume Role of College Lecturer and to Be Entertained by Royalty—A Spectacular Feature of His Trip

Wall street is not celebrating the return of the colonel. That is one reason why the rest of the country is celebrating. Possibly the bulls and bears fear that Roosevelt is coming back to start another hunt in the financial jungle. On the way to Khartum he dropped one significant remark to the effect that he had harder work ahead than that done in Africa. Just what is that harder work to be? Not writing evidently, for he finished his African book before his return to civilization. Possibly the big trust game has reason for being apprehensive. High financiers are timid about everything except taking other people's money, and the mere shine of the Roosevelt eyeglasses and teeth gives them the shivers.

When He Started.

It has been just about a year since Colonel Roosevelt left New York by the steamer Hamburg bound for the dark continent. On board he made himself most popular with the other passengers by his democratic and unassuming demeanor and friendliness. He touched at Gibraltar and Messina on the way, but requested that all formal receptions be eliminated, as he traveled only as a private citizen. In

KERMIT AND COLONEL ROOSEVELT SEATED ON A BUFFALO THE LATTER SHOT.

Payne-Aldrich tariff, Uncle Joe, the Insurgents, Baillinger-Pinchot, Cook-Pearry and forty-seven different kinds of investigations the sound of the voice that has been smothered so long in the African jungles brings back a feeling of mother and home. Next we shall hear of race suicide, malefactors of great wealth and undesirable citizens. Truly there is once more an interest in life. Now we shall revive the Ananias club, the muck rakers' union and the shorter and uglier association. Roosevelt is coming home! He may have to stop and shake hands with a few kings and kaisers merely as a formality, but he is headed our way. Already there is a dental gleam across the Atlantic, and a fresh snap and vivacity are in the air. Teddy is coming home! Get the old bass drum down from the attic, pull the bunting from the closet under the stairway and take out your vocal apparatus and dust it off. The Teddy bear is once more in fashion, the big stick is waving in the breeze, and the spear that knows no brother is glistening in the sun. The trust busters' march need no longer be played with the soft pedal. Throw back the lid, stand on the loud one and come down on all the keys at once. Bang! There—that's better! What a relief it is to do it in the good old way!

Farewell to "Bwana Tumbo."

Colonel Roosevelt has been called various names during his career, many of them not printable. At present his most popular titles are "the colonel" and simply T. R. The African natives deny that they called him "Bwana Tumbo," but a much more respectful and elevated title. Evidently Bwana Tumbo was the invention of some correspondent who should be made a life member of the Ananias club. One suspicious circumstance about the denial, however, is that it was made just before the natives were expecting to be paid off. The African natives' veracity is as elastic as that of an Eskimo, and just before pay day one of them would be liable to say anything. But, as for the name Bwana Tumbo, it has been worked to death anyway and might as well be thrown into the discard. Teddy is a title informal, so perhaps we shall have to fall back on "the colonel."

What about the pessimists who predicted that the colonel was certain to get African fever or the sleeping sickness and those other Wall street prophets who hoped that every lion would do its duty? They are all talking now. Did they imagine that anything in Africa could withstand the Roosevelt luck? What good are Wall street prophets anyway? Most of them cannot even predict the future movements of stocks and so have to depend on a sure thing game of working the lambs for commissions. "A

Messina he was greeted in person by the king of Italy and was touched by the warm welcome of the people, which he accepted as a token of their thankfulness for the American relief work following the great earthquake. The one thought he expressed at this demonstration was pride in being an American and in standing for the time as the symbol of the country that had helped these people in their calamity. Theodore Roosevelt's enemies have accused him of megalomania, but there was no trace of it in his bearing in stricken Messina. His attitude was human and fine. To me truth is more than party, and while I have not always agreed with Theodore Roosevelt in politics, in methods, in shooting all the animals left or even in historical judgments, I like him because in the main he brushes aside seemings and gets down to the fundamental truth of things. At the heart he is right. I am willing to overlook all sorts of minor failings in a man of whom that can be said.

Let us return to the African expedition. In writing of Roosevelt I have had work to hold myself down to Roosevelt the hunter and not branch off on Roosevelt the politician and moralist. I must confess that Roosevelt the hunter does not particularly interest me, while Roosevelt the politician and moralist interests me immensely. However, all sides of the man are necessary in studying him, and it is Roosevelt the hunter we are considering in this article. There are scores of men who can shoot lions, hippos and ginkedees, but only a few who can lead a nation to better things. Still, even the leader must have his hours of recreation, and these are worthy of notice not because of the recreation, but because of him. Roosevelt not only had his hours of recreation, but his year of it, and it was no commonplace recreation at that.

Beginning of the Hunt.

The Roosevelt expedition landed on the coast of Africa at Mombasa and proceeded inland to Nairobi, where it established its base. On the trip up it is narrated that the colonel rode on the pilot of the engine. Riding on the pilot is no uncommon occurrence in Africa, though not practiced much in America for the reason that it causes one to collide too violently with the atmosphere. In the Roosevelt party were Kermit, the son and ostensible photographer, although in the end he proved a better rifle shot than the old man; R. J. Cunningham, a mighty English hunter, who went along because of his knowledge of the game and of the country; Major Edgar A. Mearns, J. Alden Loring and Edmund Heller, representing the Smithsonian institution, and a small army of natives, who bore burdens, beat up game and made themselves generally
